

Greater Cleveland RTA (GCRTA) Announces Participation in Nationwide Public Transportation Industry “Health and Safety Commitments” Program

Greater Cleveland RTA joins more than 100 public transit agencies across the country who are signing on to the program

Cleveland, November 20, 2020 – Greater Cleveland Regional Transit Authority (GCRTA) has joined the American Public Transportation Association’s (APTA) “Health and Safety Commitments Program,” the public transportation industry’s overarching pledge to passengers that public transit systems are taking all the necessary measures to operate safely as the nation recovers from the COVID-19 pandemic.

“We want our riders to know that we remain steadfastly committed to the health and safety of our passengers and operators. The stringent efforts we began back in March, before even one case of COVID-19 was reported in Ohio, are those we continue to adhere to every day,” said GCRTA CEO and General Manager India Birdsong. “No matter the challenges, we will not back down or back off of our efforts to fulfill our mission – to provide safe, reliable, clean and courteous public transportation.”
